

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISEMENT

In October, the Bureau of Reclamation is hosting five public workshops regarding the Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) for the proposed Southern Delivery System (SDS). The purpose of the workshops will be to present the alternatives that are proposed for detailed evaluation in the forthcoming Draft EIS and to solicit public comment on other potential alternatives that would address environmental issues. A public open house will run concurrently with the workshop. Visitors are invited to attend the open house at their leisure between 6:00 and 9:00 p.m. The workshop, which will include presentations and roundtable discussion, will begin at 7:00 and run to 8:30 p.m. The workshop schedule and locations are as follows:

Tuesday, October 11
Leon Young Service Center
1521 Hancock Expressway
Colorado Springs, CO

Wednesday, October 12
Koshare Indian Museum
115 W. 18th Street
La Junta, CO

Thursday, October 13
Pueblo Convention Center
320 Central Main Street
Pueblo, CO

Tuesday, October 18
Cañon Inn
Highway 50 and Dozier Avenue
Cañon City, CO

Thursday, October 20
Pueblo West Metropolitan Water District
109 East Industrial Boulevard
Pueblo West, CO

If you have questions regarding the SDS EIS or would like additional information regarding the public workshops, please contact Kara Lamb with the Bureau of Reclamation at either (970) 962-4326 or klamb@gp.usbr.gov, or visit www.sdseis.com.