* Our practice is to make comments, including names and home addresses of respondents, available for public review. Individual respondents may request that we withhold their home address from public disclosure, which we will honor to the extent allowable by law. There also may be circumstances in which we would withhold a respondent's identity from public disclosure, as allowable by law. If you wish us to withhold your name and/or address, you must state this prominently at the beginning of your comment. We will make all submissions from organizations or businesses, and from individuals identifying themselves as representatives or officials of organizations or businesses, available for public disclosure in their entirety.

Comments are considered substantive if they:

- Question, with reasonable basis, the accuracy of the information in the document
- Question, with reasonable basis, the adequacy of the environmental analysis
- Present reasonable alternatives other than those presented in the Environmental Impact Statement
- Cause changes or revisions in the alternatives
- Provide new or additional information relevant to the analysis

Would like your name and address withheld from public disclosure*? YES NO

Comments: I have concerns with each of the plans.

1. Increasing return flows on the Poudre will lead to possibility of increased flood risk for down stream users. There is no proposal designed to control return flows, with higher water 2. Decreased water quality for downstream users. The preferred option is to take water from behind the dam. The return flow is going to be higher in dissolved ~~and~~ particles.

I think that they should take water from below
