Dear Ms. Lamb:

After reviewing the seven options for the Southern Delivery System, it is my opinion that Alternative 6 is the best one. This is the downstream intake alternative which would be built with a pipeline east of Pueblo carrying the water to the Jimmy Camp Creek reservoir. According to the newspaper writeup, return flows would be physically captured after they come down Fountain Creek, along with water from Lake Pueblo, which would flow through Pueblo on its way to the plant. Some of the water would have to be treated with reverse osmosis.

Your consideration of my opinion will be appreciated.

Sincerely,

Albert Jimenez
